You are about to purchase a product that is not simple and may be difficult to understand

What is this product?

Type: An Over the Counter (OTC) contract - Foreign Exchange Instrument

Objective:

The objective of this product is to manage adverse movements in currency rates that you may experience. Note that it may not provide you with complete protection against such exposures. The product achieves its objectives by Lloyds Bank agreeing the terms of an OTC contract with you which may allow for the exchange of one currency for another at a fixed future date (Expiry Date). The product may result in NO exchange of currency and therefore no protection against adverse movements in foreign currency rates.

Sample Parameters and pre-agreed circumstances and conditions are set out below for the sale of GBP and purchase of EUR:

Currency Pair	GBP/EUR	Strike Rate	1.0923
Currency Amount	EUR 10,000	Knock-In Rate	1.2253
Expiry Date	12 Months	Knock-Out Rate	1.0696
Ref FX Spot Rate	1.1570	Knock-In Period	26/04/2027 - 26/05/2027
Ref Forward Rate	1.1381	Knock-Out Period	26/04/2027 - 26/05/2027

The product achieves its objectives as follows:

If the FX Spot Rate trades at or below the Knock Out Rate during pre-agreed dates, (Knock Out Period) the contract will cease to exist and there will be no conversion of currency.

If, at Expiry Date the FX Spot Rate is trading at or below the Strike Rate you have the right but not the obligation to sell GBP and buy EUR at the Strike Rate.

If, at Expiry Date the FX Spot Rate is trading above the Strike Rate and the FX Spot has not traded at the Knock In Rate during pre-agreed dates (Knock In Period) you may choose to sell GBP and buy EUR at the prevailing FX Spot Rate.

If, at Expiry Date the FX Spot Rate is trading above the Strike Rate and the FX Spot has traded at the Knock In Rate during the Knock In Period you are obliged to sell GBP and buy EUR at the Strike Rate.

Intended Retail Investor:

This product is intended for retail investors with a short to medium time horizon who:

- (i) have frequent trading activity and previous exposure to complex financial products; and
- (ii) have exposure to the relevant foreign currency and want a level of protection against adverse movements in foreign currency exchange rates; and
- (iii) are in a position to bear a loss.

Term:

The term of the Knock Out Forward Extra will depend on how long you wish to protect against adverse movements in foreign currency exchange rates and will be agreed with you before you enter into the product. The product is a bilateral agreement that cannot ordinarily be terminated unilaterally by either you or Lloyds Bank, unless certain events of default or other termination events occur. In this case early termination payments may apply, and you may incur significant losses.

What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Risk Indicator:

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 7 out of 7, which is the highest risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a very high level. Be aware of currency risk. Where you receive payments in a different currency the final return you get depends on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not reflected in the indicator shown above. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could incur significant losses. If we are not able to pay you what is owed you could incur significant losses.

Investment Performance Information

a) Factors likely to affect future returns

The factors affecting returns will also affect the product's performance. For this product, the Spot rate of the currency pair is the only factor affecting return. Your return will vary depending on how the Spot rate performs against the strike rate, the Knock Out Rate and Knock In Rate.

b) Most relevant Index

The most relevant index is the underlying currency pair Spot rate of the Knock Out Forward Extra. On maturity of the contract and during the Knock In Period, the Spot rate directly affects the performance and the expected range of returns of the Knock Out Forward Extra.

c) What could affect my return positively?

At the expiry date, if the currency you are purchasing strengthens against the currency you are selling and the Spot rate:

- goes through the predetermined strike rate, but
- has not gone to or through the Knock Out Rate during the Knock Out period, then you can purchase currency at the strike rate, costing you less compared to the prevailing market Spot rate. This means your return will be higher.

d) What could affect my return negatively?

If the currency you are purchasing weakens against the currency you are selling but the Spot rate:

- does not go through the strike rate at maturity, and
- has not gone to or through the Knock Out Rate during the Knock Out Period, and
- has gone to or through the Knock In Rate during the Knock In Period, then you must purchase currency at the at the strike rate which will cost you more than at the prevailing market Spot rate. This means your return will be lower.

e) Performance in severely adverse market conditions

Foreign Exchange rates can be zero. Should this happen, you would pay for currency under the contract that would be valued at zero at the date of settlement. i.e. you would lose your investment.

What happens if Lloyds Bank Corporate Markets plc is unable to pay out?

You may be exposed to a risk that Lloyds Bank might be unable to fulfil its obligations in respect of the Knock Out Forward Extra. The product is not protected by any local investor compensation or guarantee scheme. This means that if Lloyds Bank is unable to pay out, you may not receive any amount from Lloyds Bank under the product.

How long should I hold it and can I take it out early?

Recommended holding period: This product is designed to be held to the agreed Expiry Date in order to match your investment requirement or until such time that the FX Spot Rate trades at or below the Knock Out Rate during the Knock Out Period and the product ceases to exist. It is a product designed to be entered into for its term and cannot be easily sold. Early termination may occur if certain events of default or other termination events occur, in which case early termination payments may apply.

Early exit impact: If the product is terminated early, in whole or in part, an Early Termination Payment may become payable by either you or Lloyds Bank. The Early Termination Payment is linked to market parameters and could be a substantial loss or gain to you. Settlement on early termination will be specific to your Knock Out Forward Extra and will be influenced by a number of factors which include but are not limited to: whether it is an increasing or decreasing foreign exchange rate environment; the movement of the FX Spot Rate since the transaction Trade Date; the amount affected by the early termination.

The Early Termination Payment is not a penalty charge. The sum represents the economic value of what Lloyds Bank would have paid or received if the product continued as agreed. Depending on market conditions at the time of the early termination, the settlement calculated could result in a substantial amount being due from you to Lloyds Bank.
